Prayer to register the Kummerikatte land as inam in the names of the Hanumantheswara at Bonnur and Moolasthaneswara in T. Narasipur.

From

The Dy Commr., Mysore Dt.

No. 613 Dated 12th June 1906.

The piece of land about 6 acres in extent known as Kummerkatte which formerly was the bed of a reservoir of tank of the Bonnur tank, was, upon the recommendation of the then Dy Commr of the Mysore Dt. (Mr. A Rangaswami Iyengar) Muzrai Superintt, Rai A. Sreenivassaiharlu, directed registered as inam in the two temples of C temple at Somanathpur. A printed copy of the Govt. order No 1222-4 dy 17th May 1894 directing the registry is put up.

The residents of Bannur memorialized His Highness the Maharaja representing that the temple of Sri Hanumantheswara at the place was a very ancient and time honored institution enjoying at present a very small Talvik of Rs 1-3-2 per mensem. They prayed that out of the Gutta of 35 Khandies of paddy, half ~~of it~~ may be given to the Sri Ramadevaru temple at Bannur the other half may be given Sri Hanumantheswara temple of the temple in Somanathpur by Govt. where there was carried out. This memorial has been in this Office for disposal.
The residents of T. Narasipur the Asst. Comr. of the Mysore Division prayed that additional

Vaadik may be kindly sanctioned to the Sri Moolasthaneeswaraswami temple on the banks of the river in T. Narasipur which enjoys a small Vaadik of Rs 1-9-0 per mensem.

The Dy. Comm^r of the Mysore District. to whom the first mentioned petition was referred, reports that one half of the income from the Kunneri kattle land granted to the Somanathpur temple may be ordered to be given to the Sri Moolasthaneeswaraswami temple in T. Narasipur until worship is revived in the former temple.

The temple of Somanathpur is of architectural interest and is being conserved.

Muzrai Secretary's remarks.

I have seen the temple at Somanathapur which has been well repaired and kept up as a work of art by the P. W. Department. I have also seen the 2 other temples in question. No Puja is performed in the Somanathpur temple as all the images have become dis-figured and have become unfit for worship. It is not likely that worship will be ever revived in the temple which is in an uninhabited locality. The produce of the inam lands granted to the Somnathpur temple (which is now periodically collected and kept in the Treasury) may therefore, as submitted, be appropriated to some useful object. The people of Bannur ask for the transproduce to the Hanumentesvara temple ient institution but very dilapidated. The villagers are doing much towards keeping up the Puje &c in the temple but Government help is required to place the institution on a sound footing. The Deputy Commissioner, however without taking into consideration the circumstances of the above mentioned temple, has recommended the transfer of the produce to the Mulasthaneswara temple at T. Narsipur, which is also a very ancient institution held in great veneration by the public.

As both the institutions are deserving ones, I beg respectfully to suggest that the produce of the lands in question may be transferred from the Somnathpur temple and equally divided between the two other temples above named.

The produce in question amounts to about Rs 87½ per annum at 5 Rs. per Kandy and each temple may get ~~two~~ one half of it.
